CLASS REUNIONS

Details are included in your class's section.

Class of '52
October

Class of '58
April 20

34 Margaret Hocken Benedict celebrated her 100th birthday in August. A tea in her honor was held in Oakland by her admiring extended family with attendees from Northern and Southern California. Margaret continues to enjoy reading, frequent walks, and lunches out.

Dorothy Bronstein Thorne celebrated her 100th birthday in August with family and friends, including her husband Marco Thorne '42, daughter Joyce, and son Dan. Dorothy met Marco when she was a teaching assistant at the Cal Library School and he was a student at the school. Dorothy and Marco live in San Diego and have been married for 69 years.
Class Secretaries: Betty Noack, 739 Glenside Cir, Lafayette 94549

42 Walter Newman serves on the board of the San Francisco General Hospital and the Directors Veterans Research Center and spends much of his time working with returning veterans. In 2010, he was awarded the French Legion of Honor for his combat service in France in WWII.

Bert M. Tolbert, now Professor Emeritus, until retirement was Professor of the Department of Chemistry and Biochemistry at the University of Colorado, Boulder. He is still very much interested in keeping up with the latest advances in his academic fields and with technology in general. He has an active interest in horological items.

Warren d'Azevedo, Professor Emeritus, has had a notable career in teaching, field research, and publications at the University of Nevada, where he was Professor of Anthropology and served as chairman of the department for many years. He was also a visiting Professor at Princeton University and Indiana University, among others. He received numerous fellowships and grants for Washoe Indian research, African studies, and other works. He also published scores of scholarly articles and books, before and since his retirement.

Still traveling in 2012: Martin W. Barnes to Cuba and Hawaii; Chuck DeKay, a three-week cruise through China and four weeks steelhead fishing in British Columbia; Royal Doty, a cruise to Hawaii; Nancy Beans Downey to Jackson Hole and on a small ship down the inland waterway from Baltimore to Jacksonville, Florida; Cecelia Steinberg Hurwich to San Miguel de Allende, Mexico.
Class Secretary: Rebecca Hayden, 2598 Filbert St, Apt 2, San Francisco 94123, beckyhnotes@sbcglobal.net, 415/931-4283

44 An opportunity to interview applicants for Alumni Scholarships is a real "upper." The experience renews your faith in and hope for the younger generation, the University, the State of California, and the world. Thus, when your class secretaries were notified by CAA that our class had some $1,400 in an account that was just sitting there and when they asked us what we wanted to do with it, the answer wasn't hard. We couldn't confer with all of you and getting a vote was impractical but we did consult with Joe Mixer. Keeping the account as "seed" money for another reunion didn't seem worthy. For our 65th reunion, only 55 members attended. Five years later, how many could we expect? Therefore, Dick, Virginia, and Joe made the decision to donate the money in the account in your name to the Alumni Scholarship Fund. There could be no better investment.

Class Secretaries: Dick Duhring, 13871 Robleda Rd, Los Altos Hills 94022, fkd@duhring.net; Virginia Pearson Anderson, 100 Bay Pl, #2001, Oakland 94610

51 Elayne McCabe, your class secretary, ran into Norma Lott and Ann Sadler, both from Fresno, while enjoying the amenities of the University Club at the Cal-South Utah football game.

Jeanne Hamilton Watson received the International Service Citation in May. This is the first time it has been given to a small-museum professional. For 25 years, Jeanne was involved with Historic House Museums beginning in Illinois and ending with 16 years as Executive Director of the Morris County Historical Society & Acorn Hall in Morristown, NJ. Since retiring in 1996, she has been very busy volunteering with ICOM.

James Waste, a member of Pappy's team (1948, 1949, and 1950) is the author of Don't Shoot the Ice Cream Man, a memoir which describes his 23-year career with the CIA in the former Soviet Union and Central Asia. George Schultz, former Sec. of State, Treasury, and Labor states on the cover plate that the book is "a pithy and readable account of some extraordinary experiences including three decades of vivid adventures working as a covert observer for the CIA behind the Iron Curtain and later along the Silk Road of Central Asia." Waste is married to Marilyn Maas Waste '52. Their five children followed in their parent's, grandparent's, and great-grandfather's footsteps, all graduating from UC institutions.

How do you like our stadium, which reopened September 1st? Have you seen any of the games? Send your thoughts and comments to the Class of '51 secretaries.

Class Secretaries: Elayne McCrea McCabe, 23500 Cristo Rey Dr #503H, Cupertino 95014, elayne.mccabe@yahoo.com; Carolyn Robinson Storer, 2838 Saklan Indian Dr, Walnut Creek 94595, cjstorer@gmail.com

52 Our 60th reunion luncheon will be filled with memories for all who attended in October. Details and information will be coming in the Spring edition of California. Special thanks are due to the reunion committee, under Bob Rowell's leadership and to Maya Goehring-Harris of the University Relations department. Thanks, also, to the many classmates who returned the Class Notes questionnaire. Your news will be reported in the order received!

Eileen (Galloway) and Jim Vohs of Piedmont are enjoying all the Cal football and basketball games, traveling, walking, and life! Aline Bier is a retired licensed clinical social worker and is now tending fruit trees on a large Burlingame lot, aided by her dog, cat, and two Peking ducks. She has two children adopted from Bogota, Colombia, ages 10 and 6. Aline received her social work degree (MSS) from Smith College in '54 and said her best job ever was in the Department of Psychiatry at S.F. General Hospital. Greta "Joyce" Schaeffer Graham of Fair Oaks is a retired attorney (J.D. '80, UC Davis). She has three daughters, three granddaughters, and two great-grandchildren. Mary Lopez and Bob Dolloff '55 live in La Mesa. She is a retired social studies teacher from the Grossmont High School District. They participate in water aerobics, golf and attending live theater. Their three granddaughters currently attend UC schools and their grandson hopes to attend Berkeley in three years.

Greta Peterson Chandler of Templeton, retired from the Los Angeles school district in 1989 and is now active in church activities and the Templeton Women's Club.

Class Secretaries: Mardy Pletcher Robinson, 1195 Glen Rd, Lafayette 94549, BluDot1195@aol.com; Micky Scholte, 28450 Buena Vista, Mission Viejo 92692, micmar@cox.net

54 As this is being written, we look forward to our Annual Class Picnic at the Class of 1954 Gate at Northside. We are glad to be back in the renovated stadium, to see the Bears vs. Bruins on October 6. We expect about 40 classmates and honored guests, including Rita Osterloh and one of her six daughters with her husband. We will be honoring the late Karl Osterloh, our sturdiest Golden Bear, for about 40 years of picnic service. See our report in the Spring issue with picnic news and our impressions of the stadium. Unfortunately, the game won't start until 7 p.m. Hope all the picnic-goers will be able to be there.

Jerry Blalock reports that Dave Francis, one of his TKW brothers and close friend and now our Class Treasurer Emeritus, has been in a full-care facility since January of 2012. Dave's wife, Mary Jo, says there are only five patients, and the care is excellent. She visits every day, and is now acquainted with the other wives. Dave has Parkinson's Disease, which got worse. He has lost the use of his vocal cords and his memory is not always clear, but on his good days, he still uses his iPad. If you'd like to send Dick a message via Mary Jo, here is the address and phone number for her: 4191 Tahoe Vista Dr., Rocklin CA 95765; (916) 435-2379. Dick would love to hear from his classmates.

Donald Denton, 14039 Strawberry Cir, Penn Valley 95946; Lesley Walsh, 453 44th Ave, San Francisco 94121

55 We wish to send our condolences to classmate Jan Stevens, whose son Ambassador Chris Stevens was murdered on September 11, in Libya (see In Memoriam). Your son was a true patriot.

Class Secretaries: Bob Leslie, 71 Lakeview Ave, Piedmont, CA 94611, relarbm@aol.com; Rosemary Meehan Mein, 3748 St. Francis Dr, Lafayette 94549, fax 925/283-2318, rosemein@comcast.net

56 The Class of 1956 Humanities Endowment for the Preservation of the Library still aids the Preservation Department, this time with its new project, the preservation of historical sound and moving image recordings. The Class of '56 Library Conservator, Emily Ramos, who has been working of this project, is from the Class of '85 and therefore a true Blue!

Bernie Keating is now living in Sonora. He had a 35-year career as a corporate manager of quality assurance for Owens Illinois, followed by another 15 years as consultant to its international operations. Bernie recently published his eighth book, A Romp Thru Science: Plato and Einstein to Steve Jobs.

Keith Jewell regrets to report the death of our fellow classmate, Gerald Tessum, in Daly City, on August 1. Following graduation, Gerald served as an Army commanding officer. He later became a well-known tour director and guide, specializing in California.

Peter Van Houten on visiting the newly rebuilt California Memorial Stadium, was taken back to his first visit during World War II when his father took him to a war effort fundraiser. He still visualizes a tank knocking down an enemy structure located on the grass playing field. Other memories of being in the stadium are when he was commissioned an Army officer in 1956, hearing JFK speak in 1962, and hearing the chant, "We want Pappy" in front of the locker room balcony. The most impressive feature he saw during his visit, he says, was the preservation of the western wall and its return to its 1923 glory. He feels anyone who ventures to the stadium will feel awe, delight, and reverence. It is still hallowed ground for Peter and always will be because it was built as a memorial to Cal students, faculty, and alumni who died in the Great War that only ended five years earlier.

Class Secretary: Barbara Jopp Chinn, 5405 Carlton St, #404, Oakland 94618, chinncres@sbglobal.net

58 Set your sights on Saturday, April 20, 2013, Cal Day, for our 55th reunion. The event details will be sent by snail- and email in the coming months. Our main contact is Roger Samuelsen at RogSam58@aol.com.

Exotic travel news from Dotty Hallett Davis and husband, Dick '53, of a 6-week tour by private guide to Kuala Lumpur, Sumatra, Java, Bali, and Borneo. Being in the jungle with orangutans was a highlight, along with a klotok boat trip, staying overnight in a Dayak "loughouse," and dancing in local ceremonial garb with a 95-year-old tribe matriarch. Photographer Dick captured photos of many species of monkeys and birds. Dotty, a retired CPA and Dick, retired analytical chemist, live in Pine Mountain.

Jean Shinoda Bolen is a psychiatrist, Jungian analyst, and internationally known author and speaker who leads women's workshops worldwide. She is a major advocate of the United Nations 5th World Conference of Women, a Distinguished Life Fellow of the American Psychiatric Association, and a former clinical professor of psychiatry at UC San Francisco.

Judy Ganulin Landis and husband, Jim (Boalt '59), moved after 46 years from Fresno to Sun City Lincoln Hills to be near their daughter, sons-in-law, granddaughters, and first great-grandchild. Still consulting, Judy retired from her PR agency and says, "It's hard to leave when everything is going well, but we know we did the right thing."

Class Secretaries: Carol Norris Voss, 10240 Golden Meadow Cir, Salinas 93907-1647, CarolV2424@aol.com; Barbara Bell Scott, 97B Frederick Street, Santa Cruz 95062-3436, scotts@scottbiz.com

61 Another of our classmates has made the transition into retirement. Joann Theibold Berridge, Class Vice President, has recently retired after 30 years as Curriculum Director at Stanford School of Medicine. She and her husband, Ron '57, will be spending a "sabbatical year" in Mittenwald, Germany, and Oxford, England.

Bruce Kane continues to host our website at www.kaneprod.com/Classof61. On this site you will find biographies of our classmates, and you may also update or submit yours.

Nancy Borio Laytham resigned after long service as Class Secretary. The Class Council selected Sandra Mitchell to continue this role.

Let's hear from more class members in Class Notes. How about telling us about what is, at this time of life, "a perfect day." Dori Robbins, Class President, has described her perfect day as a "walk on the beach after the tourists have left."

Class Secretaries: Sandra Mitchell, sandramitchell@q.com; Douglas Moore, Jr., 1 Shanley Ln, Ross, 94957.

63 Our 50th Reunion is coming next fall! We have begun preparations with Events Co-Chairs Katy Holcombe Foulkes and Don Solem, and Gift Campaign Co-Chairs Noel Nellis and Peter Steiner. Others involved in the initial organizing committee include: Roger Knacke, Lynn Gentner McIntyre, Cynthia Henderson McMillan, Joan Parker, Lori Fleming Sargent, Judy Wessing ("Sparkplug"), and Arlene McLaughlin Wil-lits (coordinating chair). Also contributing energy and information: David Hakman, Paul Hofmann, Carolyn Morledge Sparks, Doris Hawks Torbeck, and Nancy Nicolaus Zacker. Watch out for more information in the coming months and join us in planning the events and helping with the class campaign.

Class Secretaries: Doris H. Torbeck, 295 Silvia Dr, Los Altos 94024, 650/949-4117 ext. 103, dhawks@elderlawadvocate.com; Tom Shelton, P.O. Box 442, Forestville 95436, casatom@yahoo.com 65 Peter J. Manos has published a Kindle book, Lucifer's Revenge, a fast-paced, genre-bending novel of magical realism, intrigue, the erotic, and the comic, that reads like a thriller.

Class Secretaries: Joan Livingston, P.O. Box 91329, Santa Barbara 93190-1329, jmle-mail@yahoo.com; Sharon Powers, 75 Emerald Cir, Vallejo 94590; Ellen Shiffirin Schneider, gate65@bellsouth.net

72 Two-time Cal grad Steve Harness ('72, Biological Sciences; '74, Bacteriology) retired from teaching the sciences at Upper Lake High School for 32 years, all in the same classroom, at the end of the 2010 school year. He met his wife of 39 years, Kathleen Erickson, at the Student Coop's Stebbins Hall the first year it went co-ed, 1971-72. Now reoccupying his house in Lake County after a 2-year hiatus to recover from intercranial lymphoma, he is trying to fix up the old place while substitute-teaching in Lake County high schools. Kathleen spent many years as an English Language Learner aide at Upper Lake Elementary School and is now in residential care in Santa Rosa, suffering from early-onset Alzheimer's disease.

Class Secretary: Debbie Klohs DeZarn, dezarn@cal.berkeley.edu, 6469 Moss Cir, Arvada, CO 80007, 303/424-1498

74 Michael V. Abcarian has been selected by his peers for inclusion in The Best Lawyers in America 2013. For more than 30 years, Abcarian, managing partner of the Dallas office, has represented both private and public employers, large and small, handling everything from large class actions and other complex litigation cases in both federal and state courts, to hundreds of individual plaintiff cases.

Class Secretaries: Joseph Curtis, 1715 Poplar Dr, Walnut Creek 94595, chfc2000@yahoo.com; Stanley and Beverly Utsumi Sugimoto, 776 Haverford Ave, Pacific Palisades 90272, sssbssss@aol.com, bsugimoto@aol.com

76 Laurie Boucher McBride was recognized as 2011-2012 Teacher of the Year at Ramona High School where she chairs the Special Education Department and teaches English. She and her husband of 36 years, Monroe McBride, have lived in Ramona since 1993.

Following a long career in the hard disk drive industry in Silicon Valley, mechanical engineering grad Thomas Stone went back to school and was awarded a bachelor's of art (magna cum laude) in music from San Francisco State University.

Class Secretary: Dan Ahern, 21 Sea Wolf Passage, Corte Madera 94925

79 Greg Landau is ardently devoted to Latin American music. He is a music historian and producer, having produced over fifty CDs, and numerous scores and sound design arrangements that frequently appear in movies and television. Four of his CDs have received Grammy nominations. His work has appeared on CNN, Disney, Lucas Films, MacDonalds, PBS, and Warner Brothers. He has collaborated with world-known stars including Christina Aguilera, Susana Baca, Carlos Santana, Los Lobos, Sub-Comandante Marcos, and Pete Seeger. Greg has lived and worked in Cuba, Nicaragua, and Peru. He holds a doctorate from UC San Diego, and teaches at UC Santa Cruz and San Francisco City College.

Class Secretaries: Shelly de Vries, 111 Kenwood Wy, San Francisco 94127; Maria Protti, 3 Los Amigos, Orinda 94563

80 The new-and-improved Memorial Stadium is open. Alums Jeff Templin and Mike Neal, two Sonoma County dentists, attended the inaugural football game in the new stadium. Mike blamed the refs and "big government" for the opening day loss while Jeff attributed the defeat to Obamacare.

Jeff Oki continues to be a successful CIO and vice president at Grocery Outlet and still lives in the Bay Area with his lovely family.

Once a Unit 2 dormie who loved the festivities of People's Park, Dr. Cary Zeitlin, now an influential research physicist, played a critical role in the Mars Odyssey mission and can be seen on YouTube lecturing about some science stuff. He watched the landing with his scientist amigos at Cal Tech.

Steve Roscow, now an administrative law judge for the Public Utilities Commission, reportedly is lost on a golf course near some place called Pebble Beach.

Your class secretary, still dean at UC Davis School of Law, recently visited Cal to talk about the law school admissions process to the Cal Latino Pre-Law Society; he also was able to have dinner with two Cal undergrads, his son Tomas and his friend Juan.

Class Secretary: Kevin Johnson, 232 Tern Pl, Davis 95616, krjohnson@ucdavis.edu

82 Arthur A. Hartinger has been selected by The Daily Journal as one of the "Top 100 Attorneys" in California. Hartinger chairs Meyers Nave's Labor and Employment Practice Group and represents public entities statewide. Hartinger has also been recognized by the paper as a "Top Labor and Employment Lawyer" in 2010 and a one of the "Top 25 Municipal Lawyers" in 2011.

Class Secretaries: Julene Hunter, P.O. Box 6647, Incline Village, NV 89450; Anita Sham, 137 Parkhaven Dr, Danville, 94506, anitasham@yahoo.com

85 Linda S. Koffman is an attorney for Gipson, Hoffman, and Pancione in Los Angeles, where she concentrates her practice in real estate leasing, acquisitions, dispositions, secured financing, and the restructuring, workout, and foreclosure of troubled real estate projects. She was featured on the front page of The Daily Journal on June 27 for her role as lead attorney in the sale of a portfolio of five creative/office buildings in Santa Monica to Lionstone for approximately $90 million. The Recorder named her among 40 champion networkers to be recognized as 2012's "Women Leaders in Law" for her efforts in building relationships that create opportunities for her firm and others this past October.

Class Secretary: Flora Lee, 224 Congo St, San Francisco 94131, bearbum1@aol.com

91 Julie Hansell Jackson and Scott Jackson recently wrote and published a book of fun baseball stories called Great Giants Stories Every Young Fan Should Know. The book includes stories about all the greatest Giants heroes, from old-timers like John McGraw and Christy Mathewson to the mighty Mays, McCovey, and Marichal, all the way through the wild cast of characters who became 2010 World Series Champions. Julie and Scott were inspired to write the book for their own kids but have discovered it was a big hit (no pun intended) with baseball fans of all ages.

Nicole J. Jones received a state commission appointment by Governor Jerry Brown to the California Board of Psychology.

Michelle F. Segal, your class secretary, recently welcomed a future Golden Bear... Abigail Greta. Her father, aka "Papa Bear," is Paul Fishbein '00.

Anders Yang joined UCSF (aka "Berkeley Med") as the Chief Advancement Officer for Medical Education & Senior Director of Alumni Development for the School of Medicine. He was most recently Dean for Development & Alumni Relations at Boalt (aka Berkeley Law). While an undergraduate at Berkeley, he spent his junior year abroad at the University of St. Andrews in Scotland. Anders is also a graduate of Harvard Law School.

Class Secretary: Michelle Segal, michelle91@cal.berkeley.edu

93 Michelle Madhok has just released a new book called Where Is This Now: Your Style Evolution for Every Season and Any Occasion.

Class Secretary: Kelly Hamilton Graser, 2531 Begonia St, Union City 94587, graserkg@sbcglobal.net

94 Robert Allen Doles has been promoted to District Director with the United States Department of Labor, Office of Federal Contract Compliance, in Los Angeles.

Zenia Lemos Horning, her husband Rob, and daughter, Sienna, welcomed Zachary, the new addition to the family, on June 17.

Class Secretary: Elizabeth Zamora-Villegas, francophile@alum.calberkeley.org

96 Tomas Summers Sandoval Jr., Ph.D. '02, was recently promoted to associate professor of history and Chicano/Latino studies in Pomona College. His research interests include the history of race and racial inequality in the United States within the dynamic and interdisciplinary fields of Chicano/Latino studies and comparative ethnic studies. His forthcoming book is Latinos at the Golden Gate: Community and Identity in an Age of Empire. He received Pomona College's Wig Distinguished Professorship Award for Excellence in Teaching (2009).

Class Secretary: Eda Chao, 393 Dean St, Apt 2B, Brooklyn, NY 11217, edachao@yahoo.com

99 Liz Claytor is making a splash in Contra County. Claytor opened her first Splash Swim School in San Ramon in 2006. She recently announced the opening of a second Splash Swim School in Walnut Creek.

Class Secretary: Staci Goussev, staci@alum.calberkeley.org

00 Fisher & Phillips LLP is proud to announce the recognition of Laura Jordan in 2012 Oregon Super Lawyers. Jordan is listed as a Rising Star, a distinction for attorneys who are under the age of 40 or have been practicing for 10 or fewer years in the employment litigation.

Erin N Winkler, Ph.D. '05, has released a new book based on her research with African-American children and mothers in Detroit titled, Learning Race, Learning Place: Shaping Identities in African American Childhoods.

Class Secretary: Stephanie Huang, wonstern@yahoo.com

02 Mason Bates. M.A. '02, Ph.D. '08, a contemporary symphonic composer, received the Heinz Award. Bates currently serves as the Mead Composer-in-Residence with the Chicago Symphony Orchestra, for which he both composes new works and curates the MusicNOW series. The Heinz awards recognize the contributions of five individuals whose significant achievements have benefitted the following categories: Arts and Humanities; Environment; Human Condition; Public Policy; and Technology, the Economy and Employment. Bates is honored in the category of Arts and Humanities for his award-winning compositions which dissolve the boundaries of traditional classical music with a refreshing integration of electronics.

03 Charles S. Patrick III and René Lumley-Hall were married at The Princeton Club in mid-town Manhattan on May 21, 2011. Several alums attended the celebration, including Kendall Simmonds, who served as a groomsman, and several of Charles's fraternity brothers from the Gamma Alpha chapter of Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity. The couple spent their honeymoon at an adventure and dive resort in Belize and currently reside in Manhattan.

Class Secretary: Amy Lei, 415/812-5479, kamylei@alumni.haas.org

05 Analisa Hightowe now works in healthcare and has recently started a nonprofit organization, Lola's Foundation, www.mylola.org. The aim of the foundation is to help underfunded schools and shelters in need.

Diane Mars, who attends George Washington University's School of Public Policy and Public Administration, has presented a TEDx talk titled: "For America's inmates, the verdict that matters most." See www.tedx-westlake.com/videos.

Class Secretary: Amy Wang, yammyamy@gmail.com

06 Clarissa Lyons was picked as the grand prize winner at the Carmel Music Society's Vocal Competition, held annually on the Monterey Peninsula. She will return to Carmel next May to give a winner's recital. Currently, Lyons is enjoying her second stint as a Tanglewood Fellow at the legendary music festival in Massachusetts.

Mary Paster was recently promoted to Associate Professor of Linguistics and Cognitive Science at Pomona College. Her areas of expertise include African languages, phonology, and morphology. Her research focuses on describing poorly documented languages and demonstrating the theoretical importance of the linguistic phenomena found in those languages, particularly in their sound patterns.

In Memoriam

37 Doris Hartter Cooper, June 8. Cooper graduated from Lowell High School in 1933. At Cal, she majored in history with a minor in foreign languages. She was a member of Alpha Xi Delta Sorority. It was at Cal that she met her husband, Walter F. Cooper '36, whom she married in 1938. Doris and Walter had two daughters, Nancy Cooper McKane '61 and Susan Cooper Martinson '65. Cooper was a longtime member of the St. Francis Wood Garden Club, The Olympic Club, and St. Francis Yacht Club, amongst others.

40 Myrtle (Carlsen) Douglass, May 5, in Hanford. Myrtle graduated from Cal with a degree in economics. During WWII, she worked for Naval Intelligence in San Francisco, where she met her husband, John Douglass. Eventually settling in Hanford, Myrtle taught business courses at the Hanford Adult School and later joined the Department of Human Services, where she retired as a program manager in 1985. She attended the First Presbyterian Church, was a member of AAUW and the Nineteenth Century Round Table, and served as a docent for the Kings Art Center. Myrtle is survived by her husband of 67 years, John; three children; and three grandchildren.

Herbert P. Nilmeier MS'41, July 24, in Ventura. Born on the family farm in Del Rey, Herbert was the first of 11 children in his extended family to attend college. He was an instructor of civil engineering at Cal for Naval B-12 students during WWII, and went on to work for the Twelfth Naval District and the Brown & Caldwell engineering company before establishing his own firm. He and his family resided in Orinda for many years. In 1964, they moved to Ventura, where he served as Deputy Director of Public Works for Ventura County until his retirement in 1976. He is survived by his wife of over 70 years, Jean (Betty) Swain '41; two daughters; daughter-in-law Barbara Frost Nilmeier '66; and three grandchildren.

42 George R. Bokanich, on May 31, in Livermore. At Cal, he majored in mechanical engineering. He is survived by his four daughters, 13 grandchildren, and 18 great-grandchildren.

Henry K. Evers, April 17, in San Francisco. As an undergraduate, Henry served on the Welfare council, played rugby, and was president of the Chi Phi fraternity. After graduating, he served during WWII, mostly in Signal Corps intelligence in North Africa and Italy working on breaking German codes. After the war and earning a degree at Harvard Business School, he had a career in investment management and was active in civic and community affairs, serving on the boards of the San Francisco Legal Aid Society and the World Affairs Council of Northern California, among others. He was board president of the Friends of Bancroft Library and Consortium of San Francisco Colleges. He is survived by his wife of 69 years, Emily Scout Evers '42; three children; eight grandchildren and step-grandchildren; and nine great-grandchildren and step-great-grandchildren.

Dr. Clyde R. Parks, January 2011. He was a proud Cal alum and professor at the UCSF School of Dentistry (retired 1982).

Patricia Harvey van Tonningen, Jan. 11, in San Jose. She was a devoted wife to Jack van Tonningen '41 for nearly 60 years. While raising three children in Bakersfield, she was a community volunteer with the Junior League, Cub Scouts, Girl Scouts, school libraries, and her church. She and the family enjoyed many summers at CAA's Lair of the Bear. At Cal, Pat was a member of Alpha Chi Omega. A music lover, she later wrote several songs used in the sorority's songbook. In San Jose, Pat was active at the Atrium and Venture Christian Church. She is survived by her children, Linda '65, John, and Scott; five grandchildren; and two great-grandchildren.

George William Rogers, July 12. Born in Fresno, Bill was raised in San Francisco, graduated from Cal in 1942, and then earned his MBA from Stanford University in 1949 after serving in WWII. He worked his entire career in the healthcare field doing market research and product development for Baxter, Pharmaseal, and Inspiron. He and Elaine, his wife of 55 years, were long-time residents (35 years) of La Canada Flintridge until they retired to Santa Rosa in 1995. There, they enjoyed the beautiful scenery, discovering new wineries, entertaining friends and many visits from their children and grandchildren.

Austin (Al) Simons, June 23, in Auburn. Austin served as a Lieutenant Commander in the Navy during WWII. He was the former manager of the J.C. Penney Store in Auburn and also served as president of the Auburn-area Chamber of Commerce. He is survived by two children, three grandchildren, and two great-grandchildren.

44 Dorothy Thompson Biddick February 9, in Aptos. A longtime resident of Stockton, she served on the San Joaquin County Board of Education. She is survived by five children, nine grandchildren, and five great-grandchildren.

Dorothy Kelley Johnston, September 13, 2011 in Friday Harbor, WA. She was an honor student with a degree in Public Health. She was active in Little Theater, the Student Health Committee, and was a member of Phrateres. She married Wilbur T. Johnston '50, a Pearl Harbor survivor, in June 1943. They were married for 59 years. After raising her two sons, she went back to school at the University of Washington and became a medical records librarian. Her first job was as Director of the Medical Records Department at the University of Oregon Health Sciences Center. She finished her career at Dammasch State Hospital in Wilsonville, Oregon. She is survived by her two sons, five grandchildren, and numerous great-grandchildren.

45 Arthur Paul (Peter) Stark II, August 8. At Cal, he earned a bachelor of arts in medical science and language and was a member of the Honor Society. Stark was also an active member of the Cal Alumni Association. He is survived by two children and five grandchildren.

47 Alan Wayne Smith, May 25. Smith served in the Naval Reserves from 1943-1945. He received a fellowship from the Atomic Energy Commission to complete his doctorate in chemistry at Princeton University. His career included time at the Boeing Scientific Research Lab, Boeing Electronics Support Division. He held memberships in the American Chemical Society, Sigma Xi, and Alpha Chi Sigma, and was a Fellow of the American Institute of Chemists. Smith published 25 papers in scientific journals and held three patents.

48 Jacqueline Griffin, April 30. On February 15, 1947, she married Francis Griffin, her high school sweetheart, with whom she enjoyed a happy and fulfilling marriage until his death in 1975. Griffin returned to Cal to earn a doctorate in psychology in 1964. That same year she began a very productive career as a clinical psychologist at Napa State Hospital, where, among other achievements, she developed the first program in the country dedicated to the treatment of mental illness in deaf adolescents. Griffin retired to private practice in 1981.

49 Lester Parmenter Douglass, July 4, in Walnut Creek. Douglass was born in Tonopah, Nevada. He grew up during the Great Depression in a remote mining town. His experience during those times taught him to work hard and be self-reliant. Douglass joined the Navy during WWII and became a naval aviator. After the war, he earned a degree in engineering at Cal then joined United Airlines as a pilot. In retirement, Douglass enjoyed sailing, skiing, photography, travel, and the companionship of his family and many friends. Douglass will be remembered as a loyal, confident, capable, and insightful man.

John Robert Enright, March 20. John was born in Oakland to Frank and Blanche Enright. He attended Berkeley High School and graduated from Cal's School of Forestry, where he was a member of the Phi Delta Theta fraternity. He enlisted in the Army Air Corps in May 1943 but was discharged in 1944 due to polio. He married Margaret Ann Walsh in 1948. They raised five children in Los Gatos. He worked for Higgins Lumber Co. for 40 years and retired as a vice president. Throughout his life, he was involved in many organizations and boards, including Boys Scouts of America, Big Brothers Big Sisters, Oakland Jr. Chamber of Commerce, American Legion (Post 7 in Berkeley), Knights of Columbus, and the Nevada County Grand Jury. He also served on the board of directors for Eastfield, Hoo Hoo Lumbermen Fraternity, Lake Wildwood, and the Lake Wildwood Hunting & Fishing Club. He and his wife retired to Penn Valley in 1986.

John Killeen MA '51, Ph.D. '55, August 15, in Berkeley. At Cal, Killeen earned his bachelor's in physics and higher degrees in mathematics. He was founding Director of the National Energy Research Supercomputing Center, Lawrence Laboratory; one of the original faculty members at the UC Davis Department of Applied Science; and an associate dean of the UC Davis College of Engineering. As the first director of the Plasma Physics Research Institute, he promoted collaborative work among universities and the Lawrence Livermore National Laboratory. In 1958, he coauthored the over 90 publications throughout his career. The Department of Energy honored Killeen with their highest award, the Distinguished Associate Award. A lifelong Cal sports fan, Killeen was also an avid swimmer and member of the Strawberry Canyon Aquatic Masters. He enjoyed international travel and met his wife of 62 years at International House. Proud of a seven-Cal grad family, he is survived by his wife, Marjorie '43, M.A. '46; children Michael '72, Joan '77, Sean '76, MBA '82, Kate '78, and Jack '81; ten grandchildren; and two great-grandchildren.

H. Myron (Mike) Moreland, June 1, in Sacramento. Born in Oregon and raised in Riverside, Mike was a gunner in the 20th Armored Division of the Army during WWII. His division liberated the Dachau concentration camp. Mike returned to college following the war and graduated from Cal in January with a bachelor's of science in agricultural economics. One month later he met Colleen Goble. They were married for 58 years. Mike had a career as a manager with State Farm Insurance for 30 years. Mike is survived by two children.

Richard Malcolm Teeter, December 14, 2011, in Concord. He was born in Berkeley and grew up in Richmond, where he graduated from Richmond High School in 1943. He had one semester at Cal before joining the Navy. He then served in the South Pacific and the Philippines as an electrician's mate. Returning to Cal, he majored in organic chemistry and continued his education at the University of Washington, where he received a doctorate in 1954. While at Cal, he was a founding member of the Cal Men's Octet. Dick was an active supporter of Cal until his death. Dick worked at Chevron Research, specializing in mass spectrometry, and on retirement developed a consulting business on that subject.

50 Ralph S. Libby, June 17, in Palo Alto. He was a reference librarian at the City of Palo Alto for more than 35 years, admired for his research skills, and loved for his knowledge of California history and mentorship of new librarians. Ralph served as a message center chief in the Army Signal Service in Antwerp during WWII, returning to Cal to earn a degree in history. He was a life member of CAA and never failed to wear his Golden Bears necktie to work during Big Game Week. The Palo Alto Historical Association is organizing a gallery in his name at their planned museum. He is survived by his wife, Jean '86; children Thomas '84, Clare '86, and Beth; and four grandchildren.

Robert Ragen, July 20. He received his degree in electrical engineering and had a long and distinguished career in this field, mostly in electronics. After graduation, he enlisted in the Air Force and received a direct commission as an officer due to his ROTC training at Cal and his major. After being discharged, he was employed by Friden Calculator Co. in San Leandro, where he worked on a top-secret government project. When this project ended, he transferred to the business machine operations where he acquired over 100 national and international patents for his creative electronic designs. His greatest achievement was the Friden electronic calculator, which came out in 1963 and won many awards. This was the first mass-produced, electronic desktop calculator. Bob later moved on to Xerox and was involved with printers. He retired in 1990. He is survived by his wife, Rosemary '50; three daughters; and five grandchildren.

51 Helen Marinoni Beale, August 4. Helen met her husband, Pax Beale, at Cal. After graduating, she earned a teaching credential from San Francisco State University. Helen's radio career began in 1955 when she responded to an open audition in Los Angeles and was selected for the show Romper Room. After returning to the Bay Area, she joined the KCBS newsroom, and soon had her own show. She also produced and co-hosted other shows at the station and at KQED. Her television career was launched when she filled a co-anchor seat on the Noon News with John Weston. She moved to KBHK to host her own show and conduct primetime interviews. She then used her talents as a media training consultant and producer in the corporate world. She helped pave the way for women in the Bay Area radio and television.

Malcolm William Boyd, April 6 in Sandy, OR. Mal was born in Brooklyn and grew up in New Jersey. He attended Rutgers University before joining the Navy in 1942. On his return from the South Pacific in 1946, he married Jane Forrest in San Francisco. He returned to school and graduated from Cal with honors in journalism and speech. He started his working career as the bureau chief for United Press Intl. in San Francisco and then shifted to The San Francisco Call-Bulletin. In 1955 he became editor of The Pacific Shipper, a maritime magazine based in San Francisco. In 1959 he began his career in advertising and public relations. He worked for several advertising agencies and in 1964 began doing public relations for United Technologies, Sunnyvale as they developed a solid fuel rocket. Mal was always noted for his breadth of interests. While at Cal he sailed International 14's and cycled. Mal is survived by his wife of 65 years, Jane, and his son, William.

Robert Molten, June 26. Robert graduated from Nevada City High School in 1944. He joined the Navy and served as a pilot. He attended Cal, where he joined the Phi Gamma Delta fraternity and graduated with a degree in civil engineering. After assignments in Africa, he returned to obtain a Doctor of Dental Surgery degree at UCSF and then became an orthodontist in San Mateo County.

He was a member of the Rotary Clubs in Burlingame and Nevada City.

He served as President of the San Mateo Dental Society and on the board of directors of the Nevada City Theatre Group. He had a lifelong passion for learning, travel, and family. Bob was a man of depth and knowledge, inspiring many who knew him. He raised his family in Hillsborough. After retirement, he lived in Nevada City until 2010, then moved to Ripon. He is survived by his wife of 56 years, Connie Callanan Molthen; four children; eight grandchildren; and two great-grandchildren.

57 Nicolas Gus Wallace, August 18, in Torrance. Nick was on the tennis team for La Jolla High School and at Cal, where he earned his degree in business. He was also on the tennis team while stationed at Fort Belvoir. Nicholas was an enthusiastic member and participant of AHEPA. He served as the San Fernando Valley and South Bay chapter president, and as District 20 governor. Through AHEPA, Nick was instrumental in starting up Sons of Pericles South Bay Youth Program and leading the group as an advisor for many years. He also championed youth scholarship efforts and opened his home to the youth club for their many events.

John Christopher Stevens '82, the American Ambassador to Libya, spent his career fighting to improve relations between the Arabic/Islamist world and the West. Stevens died on September 11 after an attack against the U.S. consulate in Benghazi. He was 52.

Stevens had been in his post for a mere four months when he died, but he had already made his mark in the region. "Stevens arguably knew Libya better than any other American diplomat," said author and long-time friend Robin Wright. "But he also had the wisdom from postings in Saudi Arabia, Egypt, Syria, and Israel, and twice before in Libya, so he could help the U.S. make pivotal decisions" during a historic time in the Middle East.

Stevens's first posting to Libya was in 2007, when he served for two years as Deputy Chief of Mission. In 2011 he was sent as a Special Representative to the Libyan Transitional National Council, tasked with establishing relationships with the various factions that fought against and eventually toppled Muammar Gaddafi. His third tour, as Ambassador, started six months after Gaddafi was killed and a transitional government took power.

Stevens had tremendous knowledge of the Middle East, said Wright. "He was known for being a very engaging diplomat who went far beyond the call of duty in understanding the people and culture of any country where he was deployed."

And although he knew well the dangers of his post, they didn't get in the way of his assignment, said family members. Indeed, during the uprising, when he was the eyes and ears of the U.S. government, NATO and U.S. warplanes pounded Libyan military and government facilities. But for him, the significance of his role at a critical time in Libya's history outweighed the peril.

He coped well, in large part because he cared deeply for the Libyan people. It helped, said his first cousin Rebecca Hemphil, that "Chris was the kind of person who didn't take himself too seriously. He knew how to play." As evidence she relayed a story he told her of being followed and photographed by a Libyan intelligence agent during the Gaddafi regime. Stevens said he snatched the man's camera and, with a big smile, took a few pictures of the man before handing the camera back.

His interest in the Middle East began in 1983, when he joined the Peace Corps and was sent to Morocco. Already fluent in French and Italian, Stevens picked up Arabic while teaching English in the Atlas Mountains. "He always said he was going to be an ambassador," said Valerie Staats, a fellow volunteer and now director of the Peace Corps for Sierra Leone. "We didn't doubt him."

Stevens graduated from Cal with a degree in history and was a member of the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity. He went on to attend the UC Hastings College of Law, graduating in 1989 then moving to Washington, DC to practice international trade law. After a business trip to Romania, where he witnessed a violent revolt against the government, Stevens took the Foreign Service test. The State Department was quick to see his talents and sent him to the Middle East in 1991. He also held several domestic posts at the State Department starting in 1996.

When Stevens died of asphyxiation after a mob burned down the consulate, Americans and Libyans expressed outrage. His enthusiasm, charisma, and ability, as Hemphil said, to make everyone around him feel included, combined with an unflappable commitment to improving the lives of people in the Middle East, was not lost with a single act of violence. The Stevens family has set up a website (RememberingChrisStevens.com) for those who would like to read or contribute a memory of him, or make a donation that will go to fund diplomatic efforts in the Middle East.

Stevens is survived by his father, Jan; mother Mary Commanday; stepfather Robert Commanday; stepmother Carole; siblings Tom and Anne; and half-sister Hilary Commanday.

61 Rudolph M. Najar, MA, July 7. Rudolph earned his master's in physics at Cal. He was a professor of mathematics at Wisconsin State University, Whitewater for twenty years, and at California State University Fresno for 15 years. He retired in 2012.

62 Darrell Pierce Morse, November 24, 2011, in Woodland Hills. Darrell was born in Pasadena. After serving in the Army in WWII, he attended UCSB on the GI Bill and received his doctorate in history from Cal. He taught modern European history and the history of technology at California State University, Northridge, until his retirement in 1986. He enjoyed reading and maintaining his library using his carpentry and bookbinding skills. He is survived by his wife, Jean; children Elizabeth '80, Ph.D. '90, and Victoria '84, Ph.D. '96; and three grandchildren.

65 Hyatt M. Gibbs, Ph.D., September 3, in France. A resident of Tucson since 1980, he was a professor emeritus at the University of Arizona College of Optical Sciences. While a graduate student and an acting assistant professor, he was mentored closely by Eugene Commins, as well as Sumner Davis and Howard Shugart, all of whom remained at Berkeley. Well-known for research in nonlinear and quantum optics, he authored a book on optical bi-stability, received the Humboldt Research Award and Michelson Medal, and has an asteroid named in his honor. He is survived by two children.

82 Derek Edward DeLoe, M.S. '85, August 21, in Seattle. One of the world's leading aircraft avionics architecture development experts, Derek participated over the past 25 years in the avionics development for every airplane in the current Boeing Commercial Airplanes fleet including 737, 747, 757, 767, and 777, most recently leading the avionics development for the 737 P-8A Poseidon for the Navy and the new 737 Max. He is survived by his mother and brother Dean '86.

94 Matthew Africa, J.D. '00, September 3, in a car crash. A beloved Oakland DJ, Africa first gained a profile with a show on Cal's radio station KALX. He made a name for himself as a crate-digger, inspiring record collectors around the Bay Area. Africa also worked as a business and intellectual property lawyer. He is survived by his sister, Julia, and his wife, Ha Le Cow.

Faculty and Staff

William Bade, August 10, at age 88. A professor emeritus in the department of mathematics, Bade joined the Berkeley faculty in 1955, after three years teaching at Yale. He earned his doctorate from UCLA in 1951. Bade, who retired from Berkeley in 1991, was a pioneer in the study of radical Banach algebras. He is survived by Eleanor, his wife of 60 years; their six children; and five grandchildren.

Gustavo Costa, August 29, at the age of 82. Costa was professor emeritus of Italian studies. Costa joined the Berkeley faculty in 1961 and remained until his retirement in 1991. He was known for his scholarship on the literary, intellectual, and cultural milieu of Italy in the 17th and 18th centuries. Costa is survived by his widow, the scholar Natalia Costa-Zalesow; and by his daughter Dora and grandson Alexander.

Shoshochi Kobayashi, August 29, at the age of 80. Kobayashi joined the mathematics department in 1962, after earning his doctorate from the University of Washington in 1956, and served as department chair from 1978 to 1981. The majority of his career was devoted to complex geometry and his books are now standard references in the field. Kobayashi, who supervised 35 doctoral dissertations during his tenure, retired in 1994.

Henry May, September 29, at the age of 97. One of the most distinguished historians of his generation, May grew up in Berkeley and completed his undergraduate studies at Cal in 1937. He later served as a Japanese-language translator for the Navy during WW II and went on to earn his doctorate in history from Harvard in 1947. May taught briefly at Bowdoin College and Scripps College before coming to Berkeley in 1952. His first wife, Jean, died in 2002. He is survived by his second wife, Louise Brown; two daughters; three grandchildren; and one great-grandchild.

Yale Braunstein, July 25, at age 67. Braunstein joined the faculty of the Berkeley School of Information (then the School of Library and Information Studies) in 1983. A scholar of the economics of information and communications industries and systems, he authored or co-authored more than 50 articles in the fields of economics and information science. He is survived by his wife, Elizabeth, and son, Alex.

Groundbreaking epidemiologist, emeritus professor of epidemiology and a former dean at Cal's School of Public Health, Warren Winkelstein Jr. died on July 22 in his Point Richmond home. He was 90. His studies were among the first to connect unprotected sex between men to AIDS, smoking to cervical cancer, and air pollution to chronic lung disease.

Epidemiologists look for patterns of illness within populations in order to answer questions about the causes, risk factors, and transmission of disease, and Winkelstein worked on the cutting edge of his field. His breakthrough work in 1977 suggesting a connection between cervical cancer and smoking came under scrutiny at the time of its release. However, 25 years later it became widely accepted that smoking increases the risk of cervical cancer in women who are also exposed to a common sexually transmitted virus.

When the AIDS epidemic surfaced in San Francisco, Winkelstein became a key investigator in a 12-year group study that produced more than 150 papers. The study was the first to be based on a probability sample of an affected population and provided essential information on transmission, infection, risk factors for progression, and duration of the incubation period for HIV/AIDS.

After graduating from high school in Vermont, Winkelstein served the Army during WWII. By 1950 he had earned a bachelor's in sociology from the University of North Carolina, a medical degree from Syracuse University, and a master's in public health from Columbia.

Winkelstein then went overseas. He worked in Cambodia, Laos, and Vietnam for the U.S. Public Health Service during the Korean War. Upon returning to the states, he led a large trial of the Salk polio vaccine for the Erie County Health Department in Buffalo, and later became a member of the Institute of Medicine of the U.S. National Academy of Sciences.

In a 2004 interview with the medical journal Epidemiology, Winkelstein attributed his interest in public welfare to an intellectual upbringing immersed in discussion of social issues. "My father was a prominent attorney, very much community-oriented, active in the Jewish community, and a one-time unsuccessful candidate for city council. My mother ran our house like a salon," he said. "I think my background led me in a direction of social concern. When I went to medical school ... I started in public health administration, but then drifted into epidemiology because that is what interested me and that is what public health is all about, especially at the local level."

Winkelstein is survived by his three children, Rebecca Yamin, Joshua Winkelstein, and Shoshana Winkelstein; three grandchildren; and three great-grandchildren.
